To cope with crime

Sheriff's may assign officers special duty

The Wayne County Sheriff's Department may assign three of its deputies to special duty in Romulus in an effort to cope with the city's criminal and juvenile problems.

According to Romulus Mayor Terry Troutt, negotiations with the sheriff's department for the three officers are nearing completion.

The city is interested in adding two plainclothes detectives and one juvenile officer to its policing capabilities to provide adequate law enforcement in those two areas.

TROUTT THIS week met with Wayne County Sheriff William Lucas as part of the negotiations. He said the plan to employ the trio as a special detail for the city will require the approval of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners and the sheriff's department's employee union.

Troutt said although talks with the sheriff have been underway for about two months, serious negotiations did not begin until three weeks ago when the Romulus City Council approved the new city budget.

An allocation of $112,000 has been included in the budget to handle the police trio.

Troutt said council approval of the budget with the inclusion of the allotment is their approval of the concept of the special detail. He added that cost of the detail may not require that entire amount.

THE MEN will work 40 hours per week and only "when work is here." The duties will include juvenile investigation and follow-ups on crime in the city.

Troutt added that approval of the agreement with the sheriff's department should be granted before July 1, the first day of the new fiscal year.

For hiring of employees

City officials eye fair share of funding

The city will receive the additional money.

consideration an area's unemployment rate in determining special allocations to augment the initial funding.

The city will receive the additional money because its unemployment rate exceeds the required 6-per-cent minimum.

According to Romulus City Clerk Leonard Folmar, the city is eligible for the extra money because of high unemployment among blue-collar workers, about 95 per cent of the city's work force.

Although disappointed by the initial amount, Folmar said the city may surpass funds received under the old act with the additional money.

PLANS ARE to utilize the funds in the city's new recreation program, but a final decision by the mayor will be dependent on the final amount of money the city is to receive, he added.

Under the old program, the city hired 25 employees, providing them with training and work experience. Of that number, 17 have been retained as city employees.

Folmar said the city should receive an increase above the funds received under the former act, since the entire area-wide allocation exceeds the old allotment by 10 to 15 per cent.

"I don't know if there will be a cut in funds," Folmar said. "However, its only real difference is the name of the program. It operates in basically the same way as the old program."

SEVERAL LOCAL governmental officials have been grumbling about the initial allocations, claiming that the allotments are not their cities' "fair share."

The county has allocated $1.1 million of the money for communities throughout the county, retaining about $420,000 to be used to hire or retain 32 county employees.

The new program is a catchall for such former federal programs as the Neighborhood Youth Corps, New Careers, Operation Mainstream and Concentrated Employment Program.

Romulus officials said the initial funds would pay for the hiring of only a few full-time employees, but several people could be hired as temporary summer employees.

FOLMAR is confident that the city will receive its fair share after the meeting.

School district voters to decide pool millage

By KAY DeBORD
Of The Roman Staff

Romulus Community School District voters Monday will be asked to decide whether they want a community swimming pool and to choose from among six candidates for the two seats being vacated on the Romulus Board of Education.

Funds for the pool construction would come from assessment of 3½ mills over a 2-year period.

The proposed pool to be constructed adjacent to the Romulus High School is being backed by city officials headed by Romulus Mayor Terry Troutt.

PLANS CALL for a 25-yard pool with six lanes, a diving area, pool deck, audience areas, locker rooms and a laundry.

If the pool is approved, a taxpayer with a home valued at a state-equalized figure of $10,000 would pay approximately $32.50 in taxes annually for the two years, according to figures presented to the board.

The proposed pool would allow Romulus High School to compete with other Class A schools in a complete athletic program," said school board member Carl W. Morris.

The pool also would help with a broader recreation program for residents, he added.

TWO INCUMBENTS, Gerald Budd and candidates La Verne McGee, Bernard Mangrum, Margaret Meldrum and Oliver Warren will vie for two 4-year board vacancies.

Budd is the present vice-president on the board.

Christensen, a lifetime resident of Romulus, is serving as board of education secretary. When answering a Roman questionnaire on the election, Christensen said he considers a lack of student facilities an important issue in the election.

"Now that bond issues have passed, the construction of schools and furnishing and equipping of them are of the utmost importance," he said.

HOWEVER, he added that a considerable amount of work still remains to be done in school construction.

A graduate of Romulus High School, Christensen based his decision to seek another 4-year term on his role as a taxpayer and resident in Romulus.

"I consider the students' future and the future of all other children in Romulus a very important factor," he said.

Mangrum of 15486 Orchard, has been a Romulus resident for three years. He attended Eastern Michigan University and is employed by the Equitable Life of New York, an insurance firm. He worked as a research chemist for Uniroyal Inc., taught chemistry and math at Inkster High School and nutrition education for the Michigan State University Extension Service.

MANGRUM, 30, worked with 4-H programs and initiated and implemented a number of character-building programs.

"I decided to seek election because I believe in community participation."

Mangrum said in answering the questionnaire. "And I believe in getting involved."

He also added that the emphasis in education should be in vocational and business-type programs that prepare students for practical skills application upon graduation.

He is a member of Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity, is chairman of the Cub Scout Committee for Pack 734, is a member of the Parent Advisory Committee and an active PTA member.

MRS. McGEE, a 32-year-old mother of four, in answering the questionnaire said that quality education is the No. 1 issue for all candidates.

Mayor backs proposal for swim pool millage

By SUE McDONALD
Of The Roman Staff

A push by the Romulus Community Schools to gain voter approval of a 3½ mill tax package to finance the construction of a swimming pool at Romulus High School has the backing of the city's chief administrator.

Romulus Mayor Terry Troutt said he will support and aid in any possible way the school district's efforts to construct the swimming facility.

His decision is based on a brochure, "Come On Romulus, Get into the Swim," being circulated throughout the school district.

TROUTT SAID the pool will be "a good thing for the youngsters in school in rounding out their program and for the community as a whole."

"If the residents pay for it, they should have use of it," he added.

The pool will augment the city's growing recreational program which has been expanded at a tune of $500,000 this year with a similar amount in the new fiscal budget earmarked for work on two new recreational sites.

'Everyone from senior citizens to tots will use the pool.'

"Everyone from senior citizens to tots will get to use the pool year-round," Troutt said.

THE MAYOR added that the improvements in the city stem from a poll conducted two years ago which showed that residents considered recreation as their first concern.

The millage will cost residents far less than the cost of at-home swimming facility which can be used for only two months a year, Troutt said.

He added that the city and school district should take advantage of the local industry which makes up 70 per cent of the city's tax base. Industry will absorb a large portion of the cost of constructing the pool.

"If the city doesn't get some benefit out of the industry, then there is no use in having it," he said.

"If the schools and the city can use the pool jointly, then they should do so," the mayor said. "The people will be making a wise choice, if they vote for it."

Congress OKs grant for airport expansion

It appears as though Detroit Metropolitan Airport will be expanded, regardless of what Romulus officials do.

But Mayor Terry L. Troutt

has taken steps to insure that the expansion of the airport into an international jet facility progresses with some city guidance so that the airport benefits Romulus more than it harms the community.

Congress has passed a $15.5 million grant for improvement of the airport including construction of new taxways, land acquisition and the relocation of Eureka Road to allow extension of one airport runway.

The grant approval came only days after Troutt and a contingent of 12 city officials returned from a conference with Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) officials in Washington, D.C.

"IT'S GOOD the money was appropriated by Congress," Troutt said. "But it's also good the approval came after the city contingent discussed airport expansion with FAA officials, because they seemed interested in what has taken place in Romulus in the past."

Troutt has been asked to send a letter detailing alleged mistreatment of Romulus residents by the Wayne County Road Commission (WCRC) to FAA officials in Washington for review of the road commission's operations in the airport.

"It was the city's aim to discuss who has jurisdiction over the airport," Troutt said. "There is no other airport in the nation which is operated by a road commission, and there are few other airports in the nation which ignore the surrounding communities as much as Detroit Metropolitan Airport does."

"It is the intention of the city administration to see that Romulus has a say in the development of the airport and to allow the city some control over the development of the land around it."

"I'M SURE Romulus residents would be happy if they could see some return for the grief they have put up with because of airport construction."

Troutt said city officials discussed Romulus' loss of water and sewer facilities because of airport expansion, the land acquisition practices around the airport, WCRC relocation policies, road maintenance around the airport and the location of holding ponds within Romulus.

Aside from the mayor and city council members, Morris LaVigne of Morris LaVigne Associates, the city's engineering firm; John Chihani, the city's industrial coordinator and planner, and George Wilhelmi, urban renewal and public housing director, attended the Washington meeting.

"I wanted men who were knowledgeable of the situation," Troutt said. "LaVigne discussed the water, sewer and drainage problems caused by the air-

It's a duck's world -- City loses to birds

One of the items of controversy surrounding the expansion of Detroit Metropolitan Airport in Romulus is the location of holding ponds on what could be prime city land.

Mayor Terry L. Troutt has contended that holding ponds — areas of land designed to hold extra storm water flow during rainy seasons to alleviate flow into the storm ditches around the airport — should be located in approachways of the airport.

The Wayne County Road Commission (WCRC) and the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) think differently, and purchased land out of the flight path to build the ponds.

"It's always been my contention that if a plane is going to crash near the airport, everyone involved would be safer if it hit water," Troutt said. "What's better than to place a holding pond at the end of a runway? Anywhere, say the WCRC and FAA.

FAA officials last week told Troutt that ducks congregate at holding ponds. The birds sometimes become mired in the engines of incoming jets.

"It made some sense," Troutt said. "But then I noticed where the planes approaching Washington fly before touching down."

"The planes come over the Potomac River — the biggest duck-filled stretch of water I ever saw."

"Now if Washington's ducks are good enough to float under planes which carry congressmen and the President, I don't see why Romulus' ducks would be any worse for average travelers."

"It was the city's aim to discuss who has jurisdiction over the airport," Troutt said. "There is no other airport in the nation which is operated by a road commission, and there are few other airports in the nation which ignore the surrounding communities as much as Detroit Metropolitan Airport does."

Psychologist seeks center extension; School board to consider proposal

The Van Buren Board of Education is considering a recommendation by the school district's psychologist that the district continue its Learning Center through the 1974-75 school year.

Psychologist Ruth Hayes told Van Buren Board of Education that the center, a special education program at the West Willow Elementary School, has been "very successful in its first year." She not only recommended the center's continuance but also said the program should be expanded and an additional teacher be added to the staff of three.

She added that the program meets with state requirements for special education and has won "almost the 100 per cent approval of the parents."

The program currently is serving 50 to 60 children. There are approximately 50 more on a waiting list for the program.

The center provides help to students who are slow learners, culturally deprived, or who have emotional problems.

The students participating in the program spend as much time in the special learning center classroom each day as they need while continuing to attend regular classes.

County requests meeting to discuss plan for airport

The County Board of Commissioners Public Works Committee has requested a meeting with Romulus officials to discuss a resolution passed by the city council, calling for the change in jurisdiction for Detroit Metropolitan Airport.

The committee, made up of six commissioners, including Edgar L. Harris (D-26th District) who represents Romulus, set the resolution aside for the second time two weeks ago pending the meeting.

The resolution called for representation by Romulus

officials on the governing body of the airport because it lies "wholly within the corporate city limits."

It was passed as one part of a city offensive against airport expansion, following a mid-March public hearing at which several Romulus residents testified they were mistreated by real estate adjustors of the Wayne County Road Commission, which operates the airport.

The citizens charged that the adjustors did not offer payments available to the citizens under provisions of the 1971 federal relocation act, governing the condemnation of land of public works projects using federal funds.

and Edward Wade. Sergeants-at-arms will be Harry Nelson, Jerry Kubiak and Jackie Trumble.

Membership chairman of the club will be Bob Lee.

The resolution called for representation by Romulus

Butz and 14 other club officers were sworn in during ceremonies this week.

Serving as first vice-president of the club will be Mike Gersky, with Jon Madish serving as the second vice-president.

The treasurer will be John Lewkowicz, the city treasurer of Romulus.

Maureen Madish will serve as secretary with Marilyn Radford as the women's chairman.

Jack Trumble, a Romulus city councilman, will serve as the publicity chairman.

Trustees for the year will be Fred Williams, Lucille Gersky

Van Buren course set for speech

The Van Buren Public School District will be sponsoring a month-long class for language and speech impaired students.

Beginning July 1, the program will be held five days a week from 8 a.m. to noon in portable classrooms at Edgemont Elementary School.

According to Robert Crain, the director of special services for the district, 20 students will be taking advantage of the summer program.

It's comforting to know there is someone experienced in these matters ready to relieve you of unnecessary burdens.

Two candidates to vie for Huron board seats

Huron School District voters will go to the polls Monday to fill two seats on the district's Board of Education, but they won't have to worry about sifting through a large field of candidates.

James Pershing, an incumbent trustee, is seeking re-election to his seat. James Bennett is trying for the vacancy created when Lincoln Ward chose not to seek re-election.

Bennet, 45, of 18617 Hannan Rd., has no previous school board experience.

The polls at New Boston School, the township fire hall and Huron Elementary School will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. on election day.

At last week's meeting, the board accepted a $17,989 bid from the Downriver Asphalt Co. to pave the parking lot between the Huron Senior and Junior High Schools.

The project will begin after the school year ends on June 13, according to Huron School Supt. Byron K. Antcliff.

The board approved a summer band program for senior and junior high students, but did not set a date for the program to begin.

It also approved a sixth grade class trip to the Kings Island Amusement Park in Cincinnati, Ohio, June 11-12.

The resignation of David Schultz as principal of Hanna Road Elementary School was accepted by the board. Schultz will return to teaching social studies next fall at Huron Junior High. Schultz had been given a new, two-year contract as principal at Hanna Road School a month ago, but elected to return to the classroom. A replacement principal has not been found. The resignations of district instructors Janis Mabias and Rick Eagers also were accepted by the board. Mrs. Mabias is moving to New York and Eagers has accepted a position in the Kingsley School District.

The board also extended five new teaching contracts and scheduled a meeting for Monday to study several more, according to Antcliff.

Romulus residents will be able to bowl for prizes while adding to the coffers of the "Light the Way" fund in the month-long Romulus Jaycee sponsored bowling tournament.

Beginning at 10 a.m.

Saturday, the tournament will be held on four consecutive weekends and will offer a top prize of $800.

The prizes to be awarded are based on 400 entries. A fee of $10 is being assessed against each participating bowler.

SATURDAY bowling times besides the 10 a.m. start will be 2 and 6 p.m. Sunday times have been set at noon, 4 and 7 p.m. All competition will be at Romulus Recreation Center, 37454 Huron River Dr.

The fund has been set up to collect money to light two athletic fields in the city. Proceeds from the tournament will be added to the fund.

Bowlers will play three games on two alleys in the competition, vying for the top prize and a trophy.

The second place bowler will receive $400 with third-place finisher collecting $250. The fourth-place bowler will be awarded $150 and the fifth-place finisher $100.

THOSE bowlers in the sixth-through ninth-spots will collect $50 while 10th-through 13th-place finishers will receive $25.

For their actual high game, one man and one woman bowler will receive $100.

The tournament closes on June 30 with the cut-off for entries set for the last bowling shift on that day. Only sanctioned bowling conference members will be eligible for the tournament.

A member of the Romulus Compensatory Education Advisory Council and the Beverly Elementary School PTO, she said that the "realization that as times change so do teaching methods" will be an asset to the board of education.

Pediatrician to run health department

Bob Berg, Lansing Bureau

After four months of looking around, Gov. William G. Milliken picked a pediatrician to run the Department of Mental Health on an interim basis.

Milliken tabbed Dr. Donald C. Smith, his chief advisor on health and medical affairs, to serve as acting director until a permanent replacement for Dr. E. Gordon Yudashkin can be found.

Smith also will head up a team including three other men, two psychiatrists and a professional bureaucrat, that will "review and evaluate department policies and programs."

THE ANNOUNCEMENT was a complete surprise to personnel in the department, who were not consulted at all about who the new director should be and were not told who it would be. Yudashkin learned the identity of his successor from a newsman after the news conference.

Smith had been in charge of the search for

"If he listens to the staff, they'll steer him in the right direction...

He doesn't know very much about mental health.'

an acting director and in March or April Yudashkin had given him a list of six or seven persons he thought would make good interim directors. Smith's name wasn't on the list and the governor apparently never saw the list.

Milliken, whose relations with the department have grown increasingly rocky over the past few months because he has ignored the department in favor of his own staff people, acknowledged he had not talked with any department people about the selection.

"It is impossible to discuss these matters in detail with everyone and I think it's impossible to do it," he said. "Suffice it to say that I do try to get the best judgment and the best advice I can, consistent with the need to make the final decision myself and announce it at the appropriate time."

YUDASHKIN said he thought the study the governor is proposing might be beneficial to the governor and the study team members.

"The department has a good staff here," he said. "They'll teach them (the team) a lot."

He added that he thought Smith would get by on a temporary basis, even though he has no mental health experience.

"He's (Smith) calm and cool," Yudashkin said. "If he listens to the staff, they'll steer him in the right direction. He's going to have to because he doesn't know very much about mental health."

SMITH IS HEAD of the governor's Office of Health and Medical Affairs — an executive office Milliken created to coordinate the health activities of the Departments of Mental Health, Public Health and Social Services.

The idea was a forerunner of the "superagency" Milliken proposed to consolidate the three departments. That idea has been stymied in the Senate.

Milliken said Smith has some mental health experience, since he conducted a study of the departments' community placement program.

The program has helped move the state into a new era of mental health," the governor said. "But as an example of how the state can improve what it has, the study showed that adequate community-based services must be provided in order for such placements to be in the best interests of both patients and communities."

IN OTHER words, Smith determined the program won't work if it doesn't have proper resources.

Milliken didn't think the fact Yudashkin quit in disgust because he felt Milliken wasn't listening to him or the department would have any effect on finding an adequate replacement.

The governor added that he doesn't think the fact he said nothing at all to department personnel about who the acting director would or should be could be seen as proof they don't get his attention.

But department workers don't see it that way. They said the governor's office is hurting morale in mental health work.

And they figure when a permanent director is named, it probably will be another big surprise.

As we see it

Community pool would be bargain

When Romulus Community School District voters go to the polls Monday they will be faced with a proposal for added millage to build a swimming pool.

Aside from use as a student pool at Romulus Senior High School, it also will be open for community recreational purposes after school hours.

School officials, many Romulus residents, Romulus Mayor Terry L. Troutt and this newspaper back the swimming pool plan.

The proposed pool will cost $1.3 million. A 3.25 mill tax levy would be assessed on property for two years in order to build an equip the facility.

Even though a similar proposal was turned down by voters in the past, the pool's combined purpose — for school and community use — makes it an ideal package for Romulus residents.

A regular schedule of recreational programs would be set up to ensure the pool's fullest use by residents during evening hours and on weekends, according to plans mapped out by the Romulus Board of Education.

According to administration figures, the owner of a home in Romulus with a state-equalized value of $20,000 would pay approximately $65 in taxes for two years.

That means for only a small sum Romulus residents will be able to enjoy the convenience of having a swimming pool just minutes away at Romulus Senior High.

It's off to Bavaria

Festival captures old-world flavor

The blue-green pine forests and the mountain-ringed lakes of Southern Germany's Bavaria are many, many miles away from Western Wayne County, but Michigan's town of Frankenmuth otherwise will capture a big slice of old-world atmosphere during its Bavarian Festival Sunday through June 15.

"Many Michigan towns have an underlying European culture and recall it with festivals," said Joseph Radke, Automobile Club of Michigan touring manager. Holland has its Dutch, Posen its Polish and Frankenmuth its German.

Frankenmuth, on M-83 a few miles off I-75 north of Flint, has an annual show celebrating its heritage during a fun-filled week that emphasizes German food, costumes, games, music, dancing, and arts and crafts.

IN ADDITION to festival time, visitors flock to Frankenmuth the year round for its famous chicken dinners, German sausage and cheese and to buy Christmas ornaments and displays at a world-renowned showplace.

The Frankenmuth folk cry, "Come and enjoy our gemuetlichkeit," has never been translated the same way by two Germans, but its essence is good fellowship plus a rip-snortin' good time at the festival.

The festival will open on Sunday with a traditional parade prepared by the townsfolk. Floats match the festival theme and everyone gets into the act. Kids ride the floats as elves and school bands from miles around play.

ACTIVITIES following the parade take place at the Heritage Park Festival grounds. There is no admission

Come and enjoy our gemuetlichkeit!

charge to the grounds, open noon to midnight, Sunday through Saturday.

Entertainment in the Spas Platz (fun place) will be provided by Frankenmuth's own polka king, Marv Herzog, and his Bavarian polka band. There is admission to this entertainment.

Bavarian foods, knackerwurst, bratwurst, sandwiches, locally made sausages and beverages will be served throughout the festival at Heritage Park.

Exhibits in the arts and crafts building include glassblowing, quilting, oil painting, antique clocks, pottery, ceramics, candlemaking, weaving and glassblowing. Admission also is free.

EVENTS THROUGH the week include drum and bugle competition, battle of the polka bands, chicken barbecues, family shows, a water show on the Cass River, youth parade and tours of farms, the city, Carling Brewery, St. Lorenz Church and museum and the Frankenmuth Historical Museum.

Frankenmuth, a community of less than 3,000, was founded in 1845 by a German Lutheran missionary group. From this brotherhood, centered around St. Lorenz Church, the town began to prosper.

Another must-see in Frankenmuth is Bronner's Tannenbaum Shop, which features the world's largest year-around display of Christmas decorations. Nativity scenes range from minute handcarved to lifesize figures, depicting 35 national themes.

There are dolls, artistic Christmas trees and animated figures and thousands of bright, sparkling ornaments. Prices range from a few cents to hundreds of dollars.

Owner Wally Bronner makes a trip to Europe annually to buy all the latest offerings in the foreign market. The things he finds contribute to his Christmas wonderland.

Behind closed doors, Milliken told the Natural Resources Commission and Gazlay to make more of an effort to gain the confidence of the public, without which he said the DNR's programs would never be a total success.

GAZLAY ANNOUNCED a 15-point public relations program which included everything from Gazlay and the commission getting out among the public more to teaching telephone operators "to smile" over the phone.

Gazlay even made a peace mission to the U.P. where he talked with and listened to disgruntled hunters and fishermen.

Now, with the perennial antlerless deer issue, the DNR faces the difficult choice of either continuing the poor relations between itself and the U.P. or succumbing to the unhappy sportsmen and facing the wrath of environmentalists.

The DNR could try an even more difficult alternative by trying to sell the U.P. residents on its wildlife management program which includes the harvesting of antlerless deer to keep the deer population down in some areas.

A COMPROMISE is being discussed, according to a DNR spokesman.

Antlerless deer hunting would be allowed, in three areas of the U.P. — portions of Delta, Dickinson and Menominee Counties. These supposedly are areas with overpopulation of deer, the spokesman said.

He added that under the compromise antlerless deer permits in the U.P. would be limited to 6,325 hunters, compared to the 17,915 who received them last year.

The U.P. Sen. Joseph Mack (D-Ironwood), succeeded in tacking on an amendment to a hunting bill which would declare a 1-year moratorium on antlerless deer hunting in the U.P.

Health head must be more than doctor

Enterprise-Roman Lansing Bureau

State law requires that the Michigan Director of Mental Health be a psychiatrist.

That requirement makes sense, since the department deals with mental health and that is what psychiatrists are trained to handle.

But outgoing director, E. Gordon Yudashkin, said there is a lot more to the job than being a psychiatrist.

"THE DIRECTOR has to be more than a psychiatrist," he said. "There are a lot of things you have to deal with they'll never teach you about in medical school."

That is why Yudashkin was disappointed the governor didn't name his permanent successor prior to the June 1 date his resignation became effective. He had hoped to have some time to brief his successor on the job. That was why he resigned in early February, to give Gov. Milliken time to choose a new successor.

But there is no permanent successor in sight.

Yudashkin spelled out what he'd tell his successor if he had a chance.

The main problems involve handling the bureaucracy of the department and learning to deal with the legislature which controls the purse strings, he said.

"THE DIRECTOR learns in this job that the budget really is determined by General Motors Corp.," he added. "If General Motors (GM) is doing good, the state is doing good and there will be money for mental health. If GM isn't doing good, well, then the director is damn lucky for whatever he gets."

Yudashkin said he would tell his successor to be patient in requests.

"The director never will get everything he would like to have," he said. "The director has to have realistic goals. He can't take every defeat too hard or he won't last long. I approached this job with the feeling that as long as this department was making headway, I was willing to continue."

"It was only when programs started to slip because of budget cuts that I decided to leave."

YUDASHKIN'S anger over budget cuts has been directed at Milliken, rather than the legislature. He has done better with the legislature than he has with the governor's recommendations.

"The director has to learn who the 'good guys' in the legislature are and work with them," he said. "In the House it is people like Pete Kok, Joe Snyder, Joyce Symons and Bill Copeland. If they understand the problem they will fight for the director. But the director has to make sure they understand the problems."

"The governor wanted to cut the department budget by $4 million last year, but these people (legislators) got it back for us. That doesn't mean they just hand money out. They don't. But if they understand the problems and see them as legitimate, they'll help you. The director of the department has to know that."

The director also has to know how to read budgets submitted by each facility the department operates. Each superintendent has a "kitty" somewhere in his budget where he keeps money to meet emergencies which arise during the year," he added.

"THE DIRECTOR has to be alert to where each guy's 'kitty' is," he said. "The director has to determine if it is reasonable. Some guys could soak away as much as $1 million if they were allowed to."

"The director has to learn which superintendents really are straight with him and which 'cry' a lot, which have good ideas and which won't see the pitfalls of what they're doing. If I could talk to a new director, I could give him a start on that."

It's been almost a year since Gov. William G. Milliken blustered the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) with criticism for its handling of the public.

Since then the DNR has been conducting a cram course for its employees on how to get along with the public. It was

'Final exam' deals with deer legislation

The commission's previous decision to allow hunters to shoot antlerless deer has been the main source of friction between the DNR and U.P. residents.

It has led to a situation where many U.P. residents think about the DNR in about the same vein that an 18-year-old would think about the local draft board. It was an extreme distrust of the DNR which bordered on hatred.

Behind closed doors, Milliken told the Natural Resources Commission and Gazlay to make more of an effort to gain the confidence of the public, without which he said the DNR's programs would never be a total success.

GAZLAY ANNOUNCED a 15-point public relations program which included everything from Gazlay and the commission getting out among the public more to teaching telephone operators "to smile" over the phone.

THE BILL IS in the House where U.P. legislators promise to fight to keep the amendment, if the commission approves doe hunting in the U.P.

If successful in keeping the amendment, the legislature would be put in the position of formulating wildlife management policy.

Whatever decision is made, Gazlay, a native of Marquette admits: "There is no doubt in my mind that much, maybe most, U.P. disenchantment with the DNR stems from deer management program, particularly the hunting of antlerless deer."

BECAUSE THE girls worked so hard at selling Girl Scout cookies, they were able to charter a bus over Easter vacation and take a tour of the Kellogg cereal plant at Battle Creek. Lunch there was followed by a guided tour of the Kellogg Bird Sanctuary.

The April camp-out at Linden was a successful event with 31 girls and three mothers along to help the leaders. Work on badges out-of-doors, lots of hiking and the evening camp fire with another troop were all part of the activities. During the "Scouts Own," led by Kay Dickerson, each girl expressed what being a Girl Scout meant to her.

Another April project was participation in the clean-up campaign at the new Van

Buren Park where they picked up trash and debris and helped plant rose bushes and seedlings of pine trees.

Ten of the girls are currently working on the special "Our Own Troops"

badge. Some are learning cake decorating while others are completing badge work with help from their co-leaders, Mrs. Joan Monforton

and Mrs. La Donra Bauer.

THROUGHOUT THE year

every girl worked at earning various service badges.

Scouts included Becky

Adamson, Carolyn Aikens,

Marilyn Aikens, Lisa Amador,

Lynette Bailey, Barbara

Coger, Boots Collyer, Cindie

Collier, Patti Clark and

Michelle Croteau.

Also Kay Dickerson, Lori

Gott, Tony Hall, Brenda Hardy, Sherry Harsch, Suzanne Harmon, Debbie Holloway, Melissa Howard, Veronica Hopkins, Carol Laskowski and Veronica Loechl.

Still others were Amanda

Marcum, Marie Monforton,

Pam Prewitt, Julie Rosinski,

Tammy Smith, Sarah Stoops,

Tanya Truedall, Cindy Van

Valkenburgh, Beth Van

Valkenburgh, Stacie Wood,

Robin Wood and Angela

Yurchak.

The girls are looking forward to the final camp-out of the year this month. Patrols will be formed and each will be cooking its own meals and tenting together. At this encampment another court of awards will be held.

The leaders wish to thank their committee mothers and all the parents for their help and cooperation during the past scouting year.

HAROLD REDISKE, HAROLD REDISKE, JR. — DIRECTORS

Nearly everyone knows what is meant by "potter's field." But, do you know how it originated? When the Roman soldiers sought to arrest Christ, Judas led them to Him. Judas kissed Christ as a signal for them to seize Him and received his 30 pieces of silver for the betrayal. He was later overcome with guilt and despair; wanted to return the money but the priests refused it because it was tainted with blood. Judas threw the money down, went out in a field and killed himself.

The priests spent the silver to buy the field from a potter who owned the suicide site. They used it as a burial place for strangers and the friendless poor. Ever since, unidentified, friendless, poor are buried in ground known as "potter's field." The paupers buried in potter's field are often people who, while living, rejected families and friends. Some are outcasts, rejected by society. In either case, and it holds true with Judas too, the words of Edwin Markham seem fitting: "There is a destiny that makes us brothers, none goes his way alone; all that we send into the lives of others, comes back into our own."

Miss Leppiaho is bride*Newly wed Siersmas honeymoon in Toronto

The recent holiday weekend was chosen by Beverly Ann Leppiaho for her marriage to Lawrence Carl Siersma Jr. The 5 p.m. ceremony May 25 at the First United Methodist Church of Belleville was conducted by The Rev. Robert Bough before some 160 assembled guests.

Double ring vows were exchanged before an altar appointed with bouquets of white crysanthemums. The bridegroom's brother, Mark Siersma, was soloist for the occasion.

Parents of the young couple are Mr. and Mrs. Eino Leppiaho of 47216 Ayres, Belleville, and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Siersma of 2250 Keith, Union Lake.

ESCORTED TO the altar by her father, Beverly appeared in a toe-touching gown of white satin designed with a high lace neckline, bishop sleeves and an empire bodice. Her floor-length veil was banded in matching lace and her hand bouquet was comprised of pastel-colored blooms to match her attendants' rainbow frocks.

The bride's best friend, Vicki Danskard of Belleville, wore pink for her role as honor maid. Mrs. John (Beth) Lochrie of Royal Oak was in pale green for her sister's wedding while another sister, Seri Leppiaho wore pastel blue and Linda Burnham of Union Lake, sister of the bridegroom, donned yellow.

Identically fashioned, the dresses were made with long sleeves, high necklines and train effects at the back. The nosegays they held were made of mixed spring flowers.

The bridegroom asked

James Boomer of Decatur, Ill., to serve as best man. Others on the esquire side were James Thompson of Southfield; Craig Bouckaert of Walled Lake; Mark Siersma of Union Lake, a brother; and two of the bridegroom's cousins, Chris Ebach of Midland and Scott Evans of Grand Blanc.

FOR HER daughter's wedding, Mrs. Leppiaho selected a coral chiffon gown with which she wore silver accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a daffodil yellow gown with white and gold accessories. Both were presented with orchid corsages.

UAW Hall, Local No. 735, in Belleville was reserved for the reception which followed. The newlyweds, who later departed for a four-day honeymoon in Toronto, Ont., will make their home in Los Angeles, Calif., where the new Mrs. Siersma will be employed by Standard Oil Co. of California.

A 1970 alumna of Belleville High School, the bride was graduated from Michigan Technological University in 1974 as was her bridegroom, a 1969 graduate of Walled Lake Central High School.

The senior Siersmas entertained at the rehearsal dinner May 23 at Hillside Inn in Plymouth.

Association moves towards beautification

By HENRY CANTIN
Of Enterprise-Roman Staff

With the support of the Belleville City Council, the newly organized Belleville Area Improvement Association (BAIA) is moving towards its goal of beautification and improvement of the city.

At a recent meeting, the council approved a resolution calling for community-wide participation in the BAIA program.

The council's action followed a presentation by Mrs. Doug Erb of the association's proposed programs and long-ranged goals for the city in respect to commercial and residential betterment.

MRS. ERB, who chaired the BAIA initial session on its proposed programs, already has received the support of the Belleville Area of Chamber of Commerce.

The local chamber has requested Mrs. Erb to work with its Downtown Retail Committee.

Mrs. Erb had asked the council for a letter of support and for the appointment of a councilmember to assist the association in its planned improvement programs for the city.

She said the association is organizing different task forces to work in transportation, education, recreation and beautification improvement.

"THE MAIN idea is to unite the community to work together in improving life in the city, to open the lines of communication in the city not only among residents but city officials as well," Mrs. Erb said.

"If BAIA had the support of the city council things would move faster," she added.

New Belleville High programs are proving to be 'successful'

Student suspension and paraprofessional programs recently initiated at Belleville High School are proving successful, according to the principal, John P. Ford.

The new programs keep suspended students under supervision, though expelled from class.

Belleville High Assistant Principal Carlos Florido said the students are sent to an empty classroom, rather than home, when they are expelled from class.

"THIS WAY THE student doesn't lose the class credit," Florido said. "The student is given specific homework assignments to do while he is serving the suspension time, so that when he finished he can go right back to class without missing anything."

"At this point, the suspension program is working out well," Ford added. "School officials intend to evaluate the program in the near future."

Para-professionals are used to supervise the students in their detention studies to avoid diverting teachers from classroom work.

Ford said the paraprofessional work with the suspended students and other non-classroom work in the school is proving successful.

THE PARAPROFESSIONAL program was initiated more than a month ago by Florido with the approval of the Van Buren Board of Education.

Three workers were hired at that time, and currently are being used to monitor the hallways to prevent trouble in the high school when not supervising the expelled students.

With the success of the paraprofessionals' work in the expulsion program and the other school activities, the board of education is considering expanding the staff to 12 in the next school year.

school to their respective administrative jobs at the Belleville Municipal Building and the Van Buren Township Hall.

They spent a day "running" administrative offices.

Both city and township officials took the students assigned to them on a tour of governmental facilities,

Kelley to review tiff

Michigan Attorney General J. Kelley has referred a request by Huron Township Supervisor George W. Moore, asking for the resignation of the township appeals board chairman, to a "review board" for study.

According to Moore, Kelley reviewed the request then referred it to the review board, which will study the situation for two weeks and refer it back to Kelley. Then, Kelley will rule on whether Moore's request for James Tillotson's resignation must be honored by Tillotson, the supervisor said.

Moore asked for Tillotson's resignation in March after a disagreement over the issuing of a temporary use permit for a mobile home, and an alleged name-calling spree between the two township officials. Tillotson also is the planning commission chairman.

At the time, Moore was told by the township board of trustees that he did not have the power to remove Tillotson from his $100-a-year appeals board position, even though he appointed him to the office.

Moore then petitioned the attorney general for a ruling on his authority to fire Tillotson.

Tillotson said Moore charged him with irresponsibility for issuing a temporary-use permit for a mobile home to be located on a single-family-zoned home.

City, 2 townships eye funds for employment

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners has approved the tentative distribution of $1.7 million of federal funds throughout 26 communities including the City of Romulus and the townships of Van Buren and Sumpter.

The funds are for use to hire and train employees under the federal Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA).

If the CETA plan is approved by federal authorities, Romulus will receive $52,800; Van Buren will receive $28,600 and Sumpter will receive $12,000.

CETA WAS enacted by Congress last year to provide job training and employment opportunities for economically disadvantaged persons, either unemployed or underemployed.

Under the program, communities with more than 10,000 population are eligible for funds on basis of unemployment rate and size of labor force.

The commissioners approved distribution of the funds by authorizing a grant application.

Wayne County, sponsor of the program, is scheduled for the largest share - $420,000 to either hire or retain 32 county employees.

ALTHOUGH the county could keep at least $1.1

million for this purpose, the rest of this amount will be channeled to other communities which have participated in the Public Employment Program (PEP) of 1971-73.

PEP is another federal program also designed to relieve unemployment.

Bill will aid farmers; Low taxes expected

As soon as the governor signs it, a new state bill will allow farmers to work their land without facing the pressures of increasing taxes.

The new law will create a voluntary program of 10-year contracts in which land owners agree to keep their land in its present use in exchange for lower property taxes based on open space or agricultural use, rather than on potential market value.

The program will be supervised by the Department of Natural Resource's Office of Land Use.

"Development pressures continually erode our natural, undeveloped land and land use for farming," said State Rep. Gary Owen (D-22nd District).

"Until now property tax laws encourage the shift to a more intensive and profit-making land use."

BUT OWEN SAID, there are statewide benefits in encouraging preservation of open, undeveloped areas around urban fringes and in scenic, rural areas.

"I feel landowners should be helped to resist rapidly rising property tax rates as urban development approaches," he said.

The Michigan Department of Agriculture particularly is concerned that the state could face a serious food shortage.

"Much of the state's best agricultural land is in the southern part of Michigan in the line of development," he said. "Farmland property taxes now account for 27.9 per cent of net farm income, a rate four to five times higher than for other segments of the economy. Such high rates erode profits and discourage farming, contributing to the annual loss of 50,000 acres of state farmland."

Those eligible for the bill's tax breaks, include owners of environmentally significant Great Lakes shorelands, as defined in the Shorelands Protection and Management Act of 1970; lands bordering rivers designated for quality preservation under the Natural Rivers Act of 1970; designated historic sites; farmlands and other open space land and fallow agricultural land as designated by the local government, Owen said.

THE TAX BREAK on open space lands would be determined by assessing the value of the land for both its present undeveloped use, and for its potential value on the open market."

Bank officials eye the penny

Officials of area banks included in Security Bank have urged residents to "get the penny back in circulation."

Bank officials claim there is no serious shortage of pennies, but urge residents who may be hoarding their pennies in anticipation of rising prices due to a shortage to return the current

The price of copper has retreated, closing at $1.15 per pound on May 20. There will be no aluminum penny. The 62 billion pennies produced during the past 15 years have no increased value and because of the huge mintage they will never attain great value, according to officials.

It is estimated that more than 30 billion pennies are in circulation. Somewhere in excess of 30 billion pennies are "in hiding."

Bank officials say that forcing the U.S. Mint to continue increasing its penny production to meet the current extraordinary demand is save themselves $10 million for every one billion pennies returned to circulation.

They claim citizens can save themselves $10 million for every one billion pennies returned to circulation.

Huron graduates request professional scholarship

Huron School District Administrative Assistant Philip Dalley said the district has received "about seven or eight" applications for the second annual Carl T. Renton Scholarship Award, to be presented at Huron High School's commencement Sunday.

Established in the memory of the former assistant superintendent, the award is given to students who demonstrate a desire to pursue a particular professional goal and have a financial need. It is not awarded on the basis of scholarship achievement.

"The award is unique because it does not reward scholarship and high grades like other scholarships, rather it is awarded to students who have a definite goal in mind," Dalley said. "It's for students who know where they want to go in life, but money is standing in their way."

One of the applications is from a former Huron High student now at Michigan State University, he added.

Students may receive up to $500 per year for up to four years, as dictated by the scholarship. The award of one or more scholarships will be made during the senior high commencement ceremony.

"Many of our society's most urgent problems are before

Parent views student classroom work

Parents of students attending Romulus Junior High School were able to see just how classes are conducted at a recent open house.

Romulus Middle School, which shares the same facility with the junior high school on the half-day sessions, also invited parents to sit in on classes.

Those participating sat in on the regular sessions, and were served refreshments as they compared notes in the school cafeteria.

Parents had the option of attending one or all of their children's classes during the open house.

Other recent junior high activities included a "can" dance, where a can of food for a charitable organization was the price of admission.

Students and teachers danced to the music of "Skree," a junior high group composed of musicians Tom Buck, Steve Gizi, Butch Sargent and Sam Tylo.

A private art show also was a recent attraction at the school. A student, Vivian McFarland, displayed her work. The invitational showing was a tribute to Miss McFarland, a straight "A" art student, school officials said.

Another junior high student honored was Jonnie Smith, an eighth grader, who received an award from "Scholastic Magazine" for her poem, "The Night Before Impeachment."

Runway work begins

Work will begin today on the 14-week reconstruction of a runway in Detroit Metropolitan Airport in Romulus.

The airport's main north-west-southwest runway will be closed during the period, and air traffic using the airport will be diverted to the secondary runway located approximately three-quarters of a mile east.

Officials of the Wayne County Road Commission and the Federal Aviation Administration warn area residents that more planes arriving at the airport will approach closer to homes lying in the path of the secondary runway.

The construction is part of a more than $200 million expansion program funded by the U.S. Department of Transportation to make Metro Airport into an international facility.

Ninety to study at camp

The students will study outdoor science and mathematics as part of their regular classroom curriculum, LePresto added.

The students were accompanied to the camp by six members of the school's teaching staff and six Belleville High School students serving as counselors.

Pioneer erases Romulus, 13-0

By DALE GOWING

Bill Cuhran called it "one of those days." His Romulus High baseball team called it quits in the state tournament.

The Eagles ousted from the Class A title race came Saturday at the hands of Ann Arbor Pioneer, and it certainly wasn't pretty. The Pioneers pounded starter Rick Britz and reliever Steve Nieman for 17 hits in the five-inning game in which Pioneer scored in every inning to win 13-0.

Pioneer followed its resounding victory with a slim 2-1 edging of Ypsilanti in the title game of the district tournament at Belleville High for its second straight district championship. The Ann Arbor team now advances to Saturday's regional tourney at Northville.

YPSILANTI HAD gained the final with a 9-6 decision over Wayne Memorial.

"It was just one those days — they really pounded the ball," said Eagle coach Cuhran of the Pioneers. Cuhran's charges fell behind 3-0 after just one inning and things got steadily worse.

"When you get down like that it's hard to play catch-up," he said.

Ironically, Romulus' previous two meetings this season with Pioneer were considerably closer games, though the Eagles bowed, 4-2 and 7-3.

Britz had the worst day of all in the final meeting of the teams. He lasted only three innings and dropped his record to 4-5 before Nieman tried to straighten things out. Nieman had no more luck than Britz, however, surrendering six runs in the fifth.

ROMULUS, WHICH could scrape just three hits off Pioneer, threatened only in the first — but eventually stranded two baserunners.

'Ole coach' is proud of runners

By TOM MOORADIAN

Like that elusive butterfly, state track titles have always managed to evade Bernie Ingle's net.

And, for 17 years of trials and tribulations, the ecstasy of winning a state high school championship had been only a dream for the former Robichaud coach.

Saturday, at East Lansing, on the Michigan State University track & field facility, Bernie saw part of that dream come true: Robichaud won its first Class B state track title, the school's first state team title in any sport.

"We came close last year," said Ingle, "but our 880-yard relay team was disqualified and we had to settle for a second place."

Encore won the title.

"That's the closest I have ever gotten to a state title. But I'm happy to see one of my former athletes, Leit Jones, accomplish what I didn't."

"Jones did an excellent job with his team."

BERNIE INGLE

Jones, in his first year as the Robichaud mentor, is a former shot putter whom Ingle coached. Leit graduated from Robichaud in 1966 and went on to letter in football and track at Wayne State University.

Ingle, along with ex-cross country coach, Fred Hudak, made the trip to East Lansing to see the meet.

"I had a feeling they were going to do it," said the ex Bulldog track mentor, "and it was really nice to see the boys get the job done."

Ingle pointed out that "that this was the first time in the history of the school that any team had won a state title and, of course, that's an accomplishment these kids will long remember."

"But I feel that Wilson (Johnny) was the difference between a state title or a second place," offered Ingle. "When do you see a kid come back from finishing second in the half, running fourth in the quarter, then win in the mile relay by beating the guy who lost to in the 440?"

WILSON WAS FORCED to settle for a second place when he took on Dave Furst of Niles for the gold in the 880-confrontation. He finished fifth in the 440, then was selected by Coach Jones to anchor the mile relay team, setting up Wilson's second encounter with Furst.

The rematch decided the mile relay and the state meet as the Dearborn Heights runner held on to win.

"He's something else," said Ingle of the Robichaud senior.

INKSTER'S 17-year-old junior Edwin Poindexter also has to fall into that "something else" category.

Hurting from an ankle injury that kept him out of the inaugural Suburban Athletic Conference track & field meet, Edwin managed to successfully defend his low hurdles state title and also annexed the high hurdles.

Poindexter could become the first prep athlete ever to win state titles three consecutive years.

"I really don't feel I ran the best of my ability," said the young athlete yesterday, "because of the leg injury. I'm still limping."

POINDEXTER said that "they were talking about winning state titles three years straight before Saturday's meet."

"That put a lot of pressure on me," he said, "I missed winning the highs last year when I nipped one of the hurdles and lost out by about 10 seconds."

"But, I'm happy that everything turned out the way it did this year," he added.

Will Poindexter be at Thursday's All-Area Meet at Wayne Memorial?

"I sure will. I just hope my ankle doesn't bother me."

So do we.

Unearned runs kill Huron '9'

Seemingly every game New Boston Huron High's varsity baseball team plays nowadays is decided by unearned runs — or more precisely — errors. It's almost as certain as death and taxes.

And it's not only the Chiefs who are suffering from it.

Their opponents are absorbing their share of the woes too, as evidenced by Woodhaven's narrow 6-5 loss to Huron last week, which the Chiefs won on two walks and two errors in the seventh inning.

THE MUCH-NEEDED victory hiked Huron's suffering season record to 3-18, but the Chiefs are still searching for their first Huron League triumph of the long campaign. They'll get one more chance to snap the ugly winless string today, when they meet first place Flat Rock (10-2).

After the victory over Woodhaven, the "unearned runs pendulum" swung back against Huron, as Gibraltar pushed across a pair in the first without a single base hit, to provide the margin over the Chiefs, 4-3. Remarkably, the second game of the twinbill was not ruled by the flimsy fielder's glove of off-the-mark pitching — rather Carlson preferred instead to pound out some legitimate hits in an 8-3 win.

Against Woodhaven, Huron played catch-up all the way after giving up five runs in the first four innings. Adding to that damage were six Huron errors during the four-inning span.

But the mistakes began plaguing Woodhaven also, giving the Chiefs a chance to tie it up and win on two walks, two errors and a fielder's choice. Ken DeLano took the win in relief.

CARLSON TURNED the tables on Huron by scoring quickly — two unearned runs in the first providing the biggest blow. Huron bounced back for three earned tallies in its half of the inning but the lead was brief, as Carlson scored in the fourth and sixth to lock it up. DeLano, the starter, also was the loser in allowing Carlson just two hits.

Against Woodhaven, Huron played catch-up all the way after giving up five runs in the first four innings. Adding to that damage were six Huron errors during the four-inning span.

The nightcap defeat was absorbed by junior hurler Mike Biger (0-3), who pitched strongly until the seventh, when Carlson broke a 2-2 tie with six quick runs.

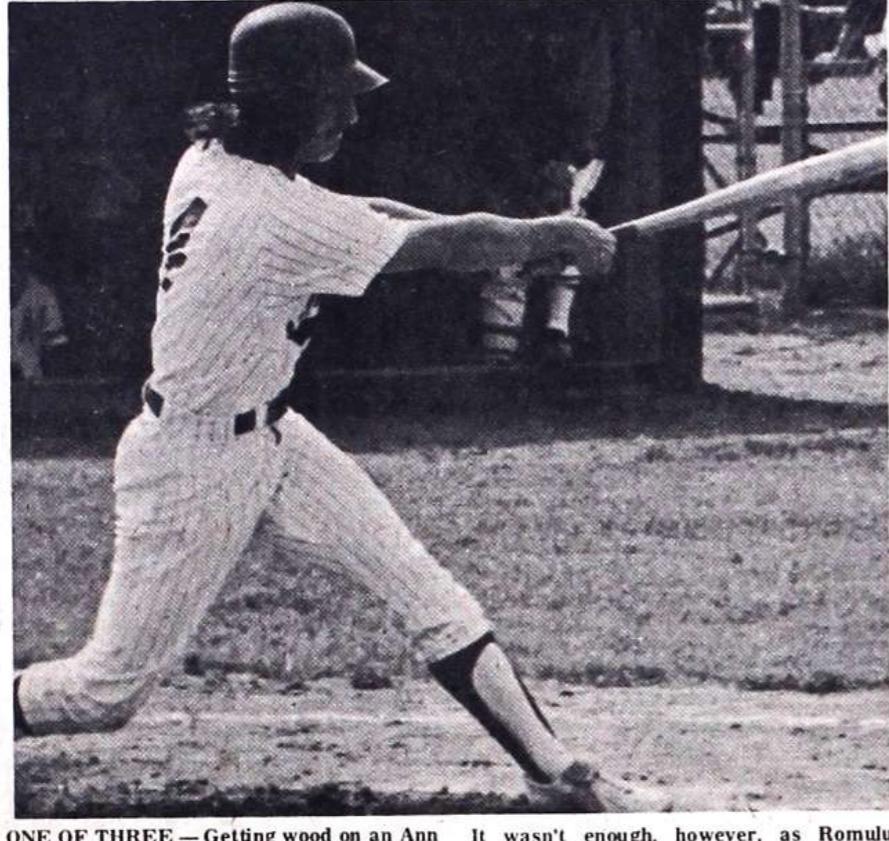

The visitors had scored two in the first but were handcuffed from then on by Biger. His teammates erased the margin with a run in the first and third, and one more in the seventh.

Eric 'the Great' was top MSU ground gainer

Michigan State running great Eric Allen played tailback the last 14 Big Ten games of his career in 1970-71 and gained more than 100 yards from scrimmage in 11 of those contests. The top performance was his NCAA record gain of 350 yards against Purdue in 1971.

FROM A REAL PRO — Detroit Lions' Alie Taylor was on hand to talk to Belleville Little League grididers last week. And he also signs some autographs. Now it's time for the little leaguers to sign up for the Cougars' 1974 season. All boys between the ages of nine and 12 and who weigh 70-130 pounds should register for the league on June 8 through 15. The players may sign up in front of Belleville High School auditorium at 9 a.m. until noon. The fee is $12.50.

ONE OF THREE — Getting wood on an Ann Arbor Pioneer pitch is Romulus' Mack Stillwagon who managed to get one of the three hits against their Class A district rivals.

It wasn't enough, however, as Romulus succumbed 13-0, bringing an end to the Eagles' season. Romulus finished the season with a 9-12 won-lost record.

Murals adorn school

Hand-painted murals soon will decorate the courtyard play area at Mt. Pleasant Elementary School of Romulus, thanks to the efforts of Barbara Jaszcak, an art instructor, and her students.

Assisted by several students, Ms Jaszcak presented posters of the proposed paintings to the Romulus Board of Education at last week's meeting, receiving the board's approval of the project.

Materials for the murals will be provided by the Mt. Pleasant PTA. The actual painting will be done by the teacher and 25 students at the school.

A new information booth at Northville's Maybury State Park bears a signpost made by a ninth grade student attending North Junior High School in Belleville.

The student, Richard Hedman, 16, made the signpost from blueprints drawn by his woodshop teacher. The assignment came to the woodshop after one of the carpenters at the Maybury State Park requested the post from North principal James Richendollar.

Richendollar said he selected Hedman for the project because the youth "was one of the more proficient students in the class."

Hedman received a letter of appreciation from Maybury State Park Manager Robert C. Rerner and formal "thanks" from the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

Sewer to serve 4,500 residents

Construction of a new sewer line which will serve more than 4,500 persons in southwestern Van Buren Township will begin within the month.

Van Buren Township Supervisor G. Elton Gollwitzer said the line will be built following last week's approval of a $248,975 bid for the construction by the Van Buren Board of Trustees.

Kozak Construction and Excavation Co. of Westland was awarded the bid.

THE TOWNSHIP will use $327,000 in surplus water and sewer bonding funds to pay for the project.

The sewer interceptor would extend from the Savage Road and Liberty Street intersection in Belleville south on Sumpter Road into the township.

The City of Belleville and the township recently reached an agreement on the city's purchase of sewer line rights and capacity in the project area. Under terms of the agreement the city will buy sewer rights from the township and has agreed to pay $57,500 along with 7.2 percent annual interest for its share of the construction cost.

Work on the sewer was delayed several months by Belleville officials who opposed initial route plans through the city.
